

At Your Service

Part 3

“What Matters Most”

There is a cumulative value in investing small amounts of time in certain activities over a long period

Neglect over a long period of time has a cumulative value as well

There is rarely any immediate consequence for neglecting a single installment of time in any particular area of life

In the critical/important areas of life, you cannot make up for lost time

There is no cumulative value to the “urgent” things we allow to interfere with the “critical” things

Ephesians 5:15-16 (NIV)

Be very careful, then, how you live—not as unwise but as wise, making the most of every opportunity, because the days are evil.

Ephesians 5:11-16 (Msg)

Don't waste your time on useless work, mere busywork, the barren pursuits of darkness. Expose these things for the sham they are....

...So watch your step. Use your head. Make the most of every chance you get. These are desperate times!
